TRAIL

A photograph of two trail runners on a rocky path during sunset. The sun is low on the horizon, creating a warm, golden glow and lens flare. The runner in the foreground is a man wearing a white t-shirt, blue shorts, a pink HOKA cap, and dark running shoes. He has tattoos on his legs. The runner in the background is a woman wearing a black long-sleeved shirt, brown shorts, sunglasses, and blue running shoes. The path is rocky and surrounded by green and yellow foliage. In the distance, a valley and hills are visible under the sunset sky.

Speedgoat 6

A grippy, responsive ride for technical terrain

There's only one GOAT on the trail. And this is it. Combining HOKA's tried and true cushioning with aggressive traction and ultralight materials, the Speedgoat 6 was born to tame the trail. A workhorse for technical terrain, this recent reissue was refined with a breathable woven textile upper, foot-hugging internal chassis, plusher dual gusset tongue, and revised lug orientation inspired by the hoof of a goat (what else?)
